HARRY TEAGUE'S VETERANS BILL OF RIGHTS

Quality, Accessible, and Affordable Health Care. You deserve access to quality health care. It must be convenient, it must be close, and it must be the best in the world.

No Bargaining for Benefits. You shouldn't have to bargain for your benefits, and they are yours by right. They shouldn't be unfairly taxed, you shouldn't have to wait, and you shouldn't have to drown in paper and bureaucracy to get the benefits you earned.

Healthy Homecoming. You must be provided a "healthy homecoming" from theatre. We must improve health and mental health screenings, provide adequate time for family and social adjustment, ensure help and treatment aren't far away, and hold employers to their commitments.

Economic Opportunity. You deserve the most of American economic opportunity. That means a good job, free college or training, secure housing, and small business assistance.

Ensuring Mental Health. You deserve the right to mental health, just like physical health. We will identify the invisible wounds of war and treat them with every resource at our disposal.

Honor Every Veteran. Every veteran should be honored and remembered with dignity. You get the medals you earned, proper markers and burials, and the appreciation of a grateful nation.

Benefits for Veterans' Families. Your family and dependents get access to much of the same care and benefits you get. Being a veteran should mean your spouse and children receive the benefits you earned for them.

Protecting the Flag. You have the right fly the flag and defend it from desecration. You fought for the American flag. No one can stop you from displaying it, and it should be against the law to mistreat it.
